Definition of Terms

PART 1 APPLICANT  A director of nursing or midwifery or other service manager who has responsibility for the nursing/midwifery resource in an organisation and is making an application to the National Council to have an ANP/AMP post approved.

PART 2 APPLICANT  A nurse or midwife who has completed a masters’ degree and successfully undertaken training, education and preparation for advanced nursing or midwifery practice, who has been offered an ANP/AMP post subject to accreditation, and who is applying for accreditation as an ANP/AMP to the National Council, i.e. the ANP/AMP candidate.
Advanced practice in nursing and midwifery has developed internationally and nationally. The Commission on Nursing recognised that promotional opportunities should be open to nurses and midwives wishing to remain in clinical practice and accordingly recommended a clinical career pathway leading from registration to clinical specialisation and to advanced practice (Government of Ireland 1998 6.26). The development of this career pathway serves to develop clinical nursing and midwifery expertise in the interests of holism and excellence in patient/client care.

The establishment of this clinical career pathway is a function vested in the National Council for the Professional Development of Nursing and Midwifery. The National Council has developed a definition, core concepts and competencies for the role of the Advanced Nurse Practitioner/Advanced Midwife Practitioner (ANP/AMP) and determines the requirements for nurses and midwives to be accredited as ANPs/AMPs.

The process for the establishment of an ANP/AMP service comprises two important parts. Firstly, the service applies to have the post approved as an ANP/AMP post (Part 1. job description and site preparation approval). Secondly, the nurse/midwife then applies to be accredited as an ANP/AMP to the approved post (Part 2. individual accreditation). This document outlines the process for approval of ANP/AMP posts and accreditation of ANPs/AMPs.

To date a number of ANP posts have been developed by services and approved by the National Council and ANPs have been accredited. The posts established reflect service needs in the specific areas and their development has required creativity and leadership on behalf of all those involved. The development of these initial posts has paved the way for other service providers to use advanced nursing and midwifery expertise to respond to patient/client and service need.

The National Council has undertaken research to provide a preliminary evaluation of the role of the ANP as part of its role in monitoring the ongoing development of specialist and advanced practice in nursing and midwifery (National Council for the Professional Development of Nursing and Midwifery 2005a). The findings of the study indicate that the introduction of role of the ANP in Ireland has been successful. The ANPs’ contribution to clinical patient/client care is clear. They are effective in delivering good quality, timely, holistic, and comprehensive care that is acceptable to patient/clients. They have been successful in implementing the role within the four core concepts (autonomy in clinical practice, expert practice, professional and clinical leadership and research) of advanced nursing/midwifery practice as defined by the National Council. This has been largely as a result of the enthusiasm, commitment, leadership and professionalism of the nurses who have been the first cohort of ANPs in Ireland and the nurse managers and multidisciplinary teams who have support them. The majority of their time is spent in clinical practice and in associated activities and because of the overwhelming need for their services they reported finding time to undertake research difficult. The roles are spread over a wide variety of care areas indicating that roles have developed in response to health service need and that the definition and core concepts developed by the National Council for Ireland have been sufficiently comprehensive to support the development of nursing practice to respond to evolving needs. There has been wide acceptance of the ANP roles in the services where these first posts have been developed and this has been as a result of tireless working on the part of the nurses and other members of the multidisciplinary teams who have led practice. The strong clinical focus of the ANP role identified in this study suggests that one of the original aims of the Commission on Nursing (Government of Ireland 1998), namely to retain expert nurses in direct patient care, has been achieved.

This document, building on the framework outlined in the first and second editions (National Council for the Professional Development of Nursing and Midwifery 2001, 2004), outlines the background to the development of ANP/AMP posts in Ireland. It defines ANP/AMP roles and outlines the criteria that nurses and midwives must meet to in order to become ANPs/AMPs. It also provides guidance for managers, nurses and midwives who are working through the processes. Templates are provided to assist in the application processes. This third edition has been updated to reflect health service reform and developments in National Council processes, however, the fundamental processes of development of ANP/AMP roles are unaltered. The development of ANP/AMP roles and services is part of the strategic development of the overall health service and needs to take place in the context of contemporary health and social policy, the requirements of population health and the service planning process. The National Council endeavours to provide support to those involved in service development. For organisations that have identified a need for an ANP/AMP service and are committed to its development, the officers of the National Council in conjunction with the directors of nursing and midwifery planning and development units (NMPDUs) are available at each stage of the process to provide advice and support.
The Health Service Reform Programme and the future direction of ANP/AMP role development

The Health Service Reform Programme offers an exciting new framework through which a quality service will be delivered to consumers in a streamlined way. The development and enhancement of nursing and midwifery roles is a key factor in the implementation of this reform. The development of ANP/AMP roles is a significant part of this and has been recognised as an ongoing and vital component of health service reform (Department of Health and Children 2003a) and implementation of the Health Strategy (Department of Health and Children 2001). The monitoring and approval of advanced practice posts in accordance with agreed standards, together with the accreditation of individuals as ANPs/AMPs remains the responsibility of the National Council (Department of Health and Children 2003b). The approval of postgraduate education courses including those preparing nurses and midwives as Clinical Nurse Specialists/Clinical Midwife Specialists and ANPs/AMPs is the responsibility of An Bord Altranais.
Definition of Advanced Nursing Practice/Advanced Midwifery Practice

ANPs/AMPs promote wellness, offer healthcare interventions and advocate healthy lifestyle choices for patients/clients, their families and carers in a wide variety of settings in collaboration with other healthcare professionals, according to agreed scope of practice guidelines. They utilise advanced clinical nursing/midwifery knowledge and critical thinking skills to independently provide optimum patient/client care through caseload management of acute and/or chronic illness. Advanced nursing/midwifery practice is grounded in the theory and practice of nursing/midwifery and incorporates nursing/midwifery and other related research, management and leadership theories and skills in order to encourage a collegiate, multidisciplinary approach to quality patient/client care.

Advanced nursing and midwifery practice is carried out by autonomous, experienced practitioners who are competent, accountable and responsible for their own practice. They are highly experienced in clinical practice and are educated to masters degree level\(^1\) (or higher). The postgraduate programme must be in nursing/midwifery or an area which is highly relevant to the specialist field of practice (educational preparation must include substantial clinical modular component(s) pertaining to the relevant area of specialist practice).

ANP/AMP roles are developed in response to patient/client need and healthcare service requirements at local, national and international levels. ANPs/AMPs must have a vision of areas of nursing/midwifery practice that can be developed beyond the current scope of nursing/midwifery practice and a commitment to the development of these areas.

\(^1\)A master’s degree is a major award, level 9 on the National Qualification Authority of Ireland Framework of Qualifications (2003). www.nqai.ie
Autonomy in Clinical Practice
An autonomous ANP/AMP is accountable and responsible for advanced levels of decision-making which occur through management of specific patient/client caseload. ANPs/AMPs may conduct comprehensive health assessment and demonstrate expert skill in the clinical diagnosis and treatment of acute and/or chronic illness from within a collaboratively agreed scope of practice framework alongside other healthcare professionals. The crucial factor in determining advanced nursing/midwifery practice, however, is the level of decision-making and responsibility rather than the nature or difficulty of the task undertaken by the practitioner. Nursing or midwifery knowledge and experience should continuously inform the ANP’s/AMP’s decision-making, even though some parts of the role may overlap the medical or other healthcare professional role.

Expert Practice
Expert practitioners demonstrate practical and theoretical knowledge and critical thinking skills that are acknowledged by their peers as exemplary. They also demonstrate the ability to articulate and rationalise the concept of advanced practice. Education must be at master’s degree level (or higher) in a programme relevant to the area of specialist practice and which encompasses a major clinical component. This postgraduate education will maximise pre- and post-registration nursing/midwifery curricula to enable the ANP/AMP to assimilate a wide range of knowledge and understanding which is applied to clinical practice.

Professional and Clinical Leadership
ANPs/AMPs are pioneers and clinical leaders in that they may initiate and implement changes in healthcare service in response to patient/client need and service demand. They must have a vision of areas of nursing/midwifery practice that can be developed beyond the current scope of nursing/midwifery practice and a commitment to the development of these areas. They provide new and additional health services to many communities in collaboration with other healthcare professionals to meet a growing need that is identified both locally and nationally by healthcare management and governmental organisations. ANPs/AMPs participate in educating nursing/midwifery staff, and other healthcare professionals through role-modelling, mentoring, sharing and facilitating the exchange of knowledge both in the classroom, the clinical area and the wider community.

Research
ANPs/AMPs are required to initiate and co-ordinate nursing/midwifery audit and research. They identify and integrate nursing/midwifery research in areas of the healthcare environment that can incorporate best evidence-based practice to meet patient/client and service need. They are required to carry out nursing/midwifery research which contributes to quality patient/client care and which advances nursing/midwifery and health policy development, implementation and evaluation. They demonstrate accountability by initiating and participating in audit of their practice. The application of evidence based practice, audit and research will inform and evaluate practice and thus contribute to the professional body of nursing/midwifery knowledge both nationally and internationally.
Advanced Nurse Practitioner/Advanced Midwife Practitioner Requirements

The following criteria apply for accreditation as an ANP/AMP.

The nurse/midwife must:

1. Be a registered nurse or midwife on An Bord Altranais’ live register;
2. Be registered in the division of An Bord Altranais’ live register for which the application is being made;
3. Be educated to masters degree level (or higher). The postgraduate programme must be in nursing/midwifery or an area which reflects the specialist field of practice (educational preparation must include a substantial clinical modular component(s) pertaining to the relevant area of specialist practice);
4. Have a minimum of 7 years post-registration experience, which will include 5 years experience in the chosen area of specialist practice;
5. Have substantive hours at supervised advanced practice level;
6. Have the competence to exercise higher levels of judgement, discretion and decision-making in the clinical area above that expected of the nurse/midwife working at primary practice level or of the clinical nurse/midwife specialist;
7. Demonstrate competencies relevant to context of practice; and
8. Provide evidence of continuing professional development.

1 An Bord Altranais is the statutory regulatory authority for nurses and midwives in Ireland. In order to practise nursing or midwifery it is necessary for individuals to have their name on the live register maintained by An Bord Altranais.

2 In exceptional circumstances which must be individually appraised, this criterion may not apply. There are some circumstances in which services span several patient/client groups and where nurses or midwives have developed expertise to deal with patient/client groups or conditions that would not normally be within the scope of practice of their registerable qualification.

3 Determining relevance involves a comparison between the competencies outlined for the post and the applicant’s attainment of competencies.

4 The appropriate number of substantive hours required by the applicant to fulfill the competencies required by the role will be approved on an individual basis by the accreditation committee.

5 Appropriate supervisors must be identified. These may include nurses, midwives, and/or other healthcare professionals. The appropriateness of professionals to supervise the clinical practice should be decided with consideration of the area of advanced practice and the particular competencies required.
The competence of an advanced practitioner encompasses that of a nurse or midwife practising at primary level, and as such, the necessary competencies for entry to registration as determined by An Bord Altranais (2000a) are pre-requisites to advanced practice. Advanced practice is developed within the context of the Scope of Nursing and Midwifery Practice Framework (An Bord Altranais 2000b).

Competencies for advanced practice may be categorised as core and specific competencies. Core competencies are those that emerge from the core concepts of the role of the ANP/AMP. The core competencies of the ANP/AMP are shared by all who practice at advanced level. Specific competencies are those identified as specific to the practice role and setting. Due to the diverse nature of roles and settings, the responsibility for detailing specific competencies for the specific roles lies with the service providers and should be outlined in the job description.

The core competencies for Advanced Nurse Practitioners/Advanced Midwife Practitioners are outlined below.

• Initiates, participates in and evaluates audit
• Uses the outcomes of audit to improve service provision
• Contributes to service and budgetary processes through use of audit data and specialist knowledge |

An Bord Altranais outlines five Domains of Competence representing the level the student must meet on completion of the registration education programme. They are:

• Domain 1. Professional/Ethical Practice
• Domain 2. Holistic Approaches to Care and the Integration of Knowledge
• Domain 3. Interpersonal Relationships
• Domain 4. Organisation and Management of Care
• Domain 5. Personal and Professional Development.
The process for the establishment of ANP/AMP posts and the accreditation of ANPs/AMPs comprises two parts:

Part 1: Application by the health care organisation for approval of job description and site preparation

The job description and site preparation must be approved by the National Council before the nurse or midwife can be accredited. This is important in ensuring that posts develop in accordance with the National Council’s vision for ANP/AMP roles in Ireland. This first stage is the responsibility of the Director of Nursing or Midwifery and/or the relevant manager.

An application can be made for approval of more than one post in a particular speciality or area of practice at a time. In the case of a number of posts being included in an application, while the job descriptions may essentially be the same, the site preparation details may differ. For example, justification needs to be made for the number of posts applied for and resource implications will need to be explicit for the specific number of posts.
Part 2: Application by nurse or midwife for accreditation as an ANP/AMP

While nurses or midwives may conform to the definition of or meet the accreditation criteria for ANPs/AMPs they will be eligible to apply for accreditation as an ANP/AMP only where they have been offered an approved ANP/AMP post subject to accreditation. Each nurse/midwife must successfully undergo the accreditation process of the National Council before he/she can use the title ANP/AMP. Therefore the titles may only be used by nurses/midwives who are accredited as ANPs/AMPs by the National Council.

Part 1: Application by the health care organisation for approval of job description and site preparation

The identification of the need for ANP/AMP role(s) is the first vital step in the process of establishing an ANP/AMP post or service. This takes place at both regional and local level and involves a review of:

- epidemiology or disease patterns
- population health/demographics
- hospital/service data
- relevant regional and national health policy documents
- geographic context of service provision
- current roles and potential areas for development of services to patients/clients.

Where a need for new roles is identified it is useful to examine national and international experience concerning the effectiveness and appropriateness of similar roles. On the basis of this evaluation and if the service deems ANP/AMP post(s) necessary it is the responsibility of the local manager to use the service planning process to seek funding and work closely with the director of the NMPDU regarding parameters of role and regional developments.

For detailed guidance on undertaking service needs analysis see Service Needs Analysis for Clinical Nurse/Midwife Specialist and Advanced Nurse/Midwife Practitioner Posts (National Council for the Professional Development of Nursing and Midwifery 2005b).

A detailed job description should be devised containing details of the role and the responsibilities of the post, the appropriate reporting relationships for the post-holder and reflecting the required experience and education as specified by the National Council. The job description should incorporate the core concepts and definition of the ANP/AMP role, together with the core competencies for ANPs/AMPs and the specific competencies required for the post. The job description should be developed in line with the service plan and in consultation with the NMPDU. A template outlining the required information for job descriptions is provided in the template for Part 1 application on pages 28-30 of this document.

The integration of the ANP/AMP into a practice setting will have implications for patients/clients, individual nurses/midwives, the nursing and midwifery professions, other healthcare providers and other healthcare professionals in the setting that the new role is to be introduced. The National Council advises that due consideration be given to assimilating the post and post-holder into the organisation in a manner beneficial to patients/clients, individual ANPs/AMPs, the nursing and midwifery professions, the healthcare providers and other healthcare professionals.

In preparation, employers need to articulate both the practice expectations of the ANP/AMP and their willingness to provide the necessary support to ensure successful integration of the role, giving due consideration the definition and core concepts of the ANP/AMP role.
Having identified the need for a specific area of care provision, the organisational manager must consider how an ANP/AMP might fit the service requirement, and how the introduction of a new role will impact on the service as a whole, in terms of benefit to the patient/client group, the workload of other healthcare professionals, the culture of the service and the distribution of resources within the service. Consideration should also be given to the sustainability of the ANP/AMP role and to the ongoing development of the individual ANP/AMP.

It is crucial that the development of the ANP/AMP role is carried out within the context of the service planning process. This includes obtaining funding for the post and the associated site development. Evidence of this is required by the National Council through the completion of the Financial Approval Form (available in the template for Part 1 application on page 33 of this document).

The organisational manager must:

- Ensure that the healthcare need to be addressed by the introduction of the ANP/AMP has been identified from health service need, from patient/client feedback and/or in service plans;
- Have a clear understanding of the legislation, rules, regulations and guidelines that govern nursing/midwifery practice (both directly and indirectly) and their implications for the proposed ANP/AMP service;
- Ensure that the service insurance arrangements incorporate all relevant aspects of the post. Insurance cover is provided for Advanced Nurse/Midwife Practitioner posts in hospitals or other organisations which have medical malpractice indemnity under the terms of the Clinical Indemnity Scheme;
- Ensure that guidelines for good practice are developed collaboratively;
- Determine how the patient/client will benefit from the ANP/AMP service;
- Ascertain that the service to be provided by the ANP/AMP is consistent with the service/organisation philosophy;
- Project how the change will help to meet the goals of the service plan;
- Give consideration to the optimal location of the service;
- Ensure that processes are in place to establish baseline measurements against which the service can be evaluated in the future;
- Give consideration to managing the integration of the ANP/AMP into the multidisciplinary team and the effect of the new role on the work of other healthcare professionals;
- Define the role content of the ANP/AMP service within a framework of nursing/midwifery practice, identifying areas of responsibility, levels of authority and channels of accountability (these should be contained within the job description); and
- Identify resource implications (see Box 1).

The site preparation details should outline all the measures taken to develop the post and integrate it into the overall service. A template for submission of site preparation details is provided in the template for Part 1 on pages 31-32 of this document.

Box 1 Identification of Resources

The ANP/AMP must be enabled to work as effectively and efficiently as possible from the time of taking up the post. This may be achieved by identifying and securing the necessary resources in advance of his/her taking up the post. Furthermore, it must be ensured that the ANP/AMP, who is assuming new responsibilities and developing new skills in new territory, will have appropriate support and feedback so that motivation and commitment is maintained.

Resources that will enable the ANP/AMP to make effective use of his/her time and to undertake the responsibilities associated with the core competencies of his/her role include:

- Adequate staffing, in terms of secretarial and administrative support;
- Equipment and facilities, such as clinical space, diagnostic and treatment equipment and office space, computer, other information technology and appropriate furnishings;
- Access to research and other evidence applicable to the area of practice, including access to library resources and/or access to a third level institution and internet access;
- Opportunities for networking;
- Opportunities for engaging in continuing professional development; and
- Facilities to audit and evaluate his/her work, to undertake research, and to develop and provide evidence-based services. This should include a liaison arrangement with an appropriate department of a third-level educational institution.
PART 1 Job description and site preparation approval

Identification of need for ANP/AMP post
Development of job description
Site preparation
Submission of application to NMPDU and then to National Council
Review of application by officers
Review of application by accreditation committee
National Council decision

The documentation for Part 1 application comprises:
1. Application Form for ANP/AMP Post Approval
2. Job Description
3. Details of the site preparation

A Template for Part 1 Approval of ANP/AMP Post-Organisational Application is provided on pages 25-34 of this document.

The application document is submitted by the Director of Nursing/Midwifery to the Director of the NMPDU who reviews it and then forwards the application to the National Council.

On receipt of the application officers of the National Council review the documentation to ensure that all the necessary details are included. If there are areas requiring clarification the officers liaise with the service manager(s) and or other appropriate personnel.

The accreditation committee will comprise National Council members, invited experts, an accredited ANP/AMP and executive staff.

The accreditation committee reviews the application against the criteria for ANP/AMP posts in the context of the particular area of nursing or midwifery and against the recommended considerations for site preparation. The applicants may be required to provide additional information or clarification at this stage in the process. A site visit may be carried out by members of the accreditation committee to facilitate this. The accreditation committee makes a judgement and recommends a decision to the National Council.

The final decision is taken by the National Council. The Chief Executive Officer of the National Council advises the Director of the NMPDU and the Director of Nursing/Midwifery in writing of the outcome.

Where approval is granted it is expected that site preparation is maintained to at least the level approved by the National Council.

*While application can be made for more than one post at a time, the above documentation needs to be submitted for each post applied for.

In the absence of a nursing/midwifery management structure this step can be undertaken by organisational management in consultation with the Nursing and Midwifery Planning and Development Unit.
In cases where approval is not granted recommendations will be made for areas requiring development. Re-application may be made following development of identified areas.

Employment of Nurses or Midwives in ANP/AMP Posts.

When the post is approved the next stage is to identify and recruit a suitably qualified nurse/midwife who could fill the post subject to accreditation by the National Council. It is only following accreditation by the National Council that a nurse or midwife can use the title ANP/AMP. This should be reflected in recruitment processes for the posts.
Part 2: Application by nurse or midwife for accreditation as an ANP/AMP

The central aim of the application is to demonstrate that the applicant meets the National Council criteria for accreditation as an ANP/AMP and that he/she can demonstrate the required competencies to perform the role.

The application for accreditation as an ANP/AMP comprises:
1. National Council Application Form for accreditation as an ANP/AMP
2. Job Description for the post for which the ANP/AMP application is for
3. A detailed portfolio

A template for Part 2 Application by Nurses or Midwives for accreditation as an ANP/AMP—Individual Application is provided on pages 35-38 of this document and Guidelines for Portfolio Development for Nurses and Midwives provides general guidance on portfolio development together with a detailed section on specific portfolio development for ANPs/AMPs (National Council for the Professional Development of Nursing and Midwifery 2006).

The Director of Nursing/Midwifery reviews the application and signs the application form to indicate that he/she is satisfied with the information provided and then submits the application to the National Council.

Each application is reviewed by an officer of the National Council to ensure that all necessary documentation and information is included. If there are areas requiring clarification the officers liaise with the applicant.

When all the necessary information has been collated an accreditation committee is convened (as outlined on page 19). The accreditation committee reviews the documentation against the criteria for ANP/AMP and the job description for the post that the nurse/midwife intends to take up. The applicant may be required to provide additional information or clarification at this stage and where necessary he/she may be required to meet the accreditation committee. The accreditation committee makes a decision and recommends a decision to the National Council.
The final decision is taken by the National Council. The Chief Executive Officer of the National Council advises the applicant, the Director of Nursing/Midwifery and the Director of the NMPDU in writing of the outcome.

Where the applicant is accredited as an ANP/AMP he/she will be issued with a certificate of accreditation bearing the seal of the National Council. Accreditation as an ANP/AMP (title of specialty) is granted for a five-year period from the date of accreditation by the National Council, providing all the criteria continue to be fulfilled. Accreditation as an ANP/AMP is valid only as long as the person holds an approved ANP/AMP post.

ANPs/AMPs wishing to move post are required to reapply for accreditation as a ANP/AMP as per Part 2 of the application process. Accreditation is then valid for a five-year period. In order to expedite this process it is advisable for ANPs/AMPs to take note of the dates for submission of documentation to the accreditation committee (see www.ncnm.ie), and notify the National Council in a timely manner of their intention to move post.

The National Council must be notified by the director of nursing/midwifery or service manager when posts become vacant.

Where the applicant is not accredited, feedback will be provided in writing to the applicant on the rationale for this decision together with guidance on areas of development. The applicant may then re-apply providing he/she has addressed the areas recommended by the National Council.

Re-accreditation as an ANP/AMP

Application for re-accreditation is necessary after a five-year period. To re-apply for accreditation to practice as an ANP/AMP the applicant must demonstrate to the National Council that the requirements for the initial application continue to be met. Application for re-accreditation involves the submission of an application form together with a document indicating how the applicant continues to fulfill the criteria for ANP/AMP. It is important to note that in order to continue practising as an ANP/AMP the nurse or midwife needs to make application for re-accreditation well in advance of the date that their current accreditation expires. The National Council recommends that nurses and midwives apply for re-accreditation six months before their current period of accreditation expires. In order to apply for re-accreditation the ANP/AMP must submit:

1. A re-accreditation form and
2. A portfolio up-date

A template for application for re-accreditation is provided on pages 39-42 of this document. The process is then the same as Part 2 of the accreditation process above.

Monitoring the development of ANP/AMP posts

The National Council is responsible for monitoring the development of ANP/AMP posts. This involves monitoring posts at service, regional and national level.

At service level approval of a post is granted for as long as the post is required to meet an identified and continuing service need. The National Council recognises that it is inevitable and desirable that role descriptions change in line with service and patient/client need. As roles and scope of practice develop job descriptions should also be up-dated. It is a requirement of the continuing approval of posts that the National Council is informed of any substantial changes to the job description of approved ANP/AMP posts. Directors of Nursing or Midwifery should, when relevant, submit amended job descriptions of approved posts to the National Council. Providing the core concepts of ANP/AMP roles continue to be fulfilled approval will be ongoing. The organisation must ensure that it continues to support ANP/AMP posts with the appropriate resources necessary to enable the role to fully respond to the service need and the development needs of the post-holder. The National Council may, as part of its monitoring function, require services to supply details of continued development of the site and the progress of the ANP/AMP service as appropriate.

At regional and national level the National Council will liaise and work in partnership with the Directors of Nursing/Midwifery and the Directors of the NMPDUs in this process. This will include a review of the geographical spread of posts, national and local developments and appropriateness of ANP/AMP role development (Government of Ireland 1998 6.62).
