INTRODUCTION

This publication is the result of an initiative taken by the Council for Postgraduate Medical and Dental Education. The Council are anxious that the information set out in this booklet should be readily available for all doctors and dentists interested in postgraduate education. Financial aid provided by the Council has made publication possible.

The directory is intended for the use of medical and dental practitioners whether engaged in research, hospital or general practice.

The directory is divided into three sections. The first two sections comprise alphabetical listings of current indexing and abstracting services and current journal holdings in the major medical libraries. The third section details the services offered by the medical libraries, to doctors, dentists and other medical personnel seeking guidance in locating information.

It is hoped that this directory will aid the promotion, appreciation and wider use of existing information resources and services.

The following libraries co-operated in the production of this booklet.

The Dublin Dental Hospital Library
The Institute for Industrial Research & Standards
The Royal College of Physicians of Ireland
The Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland
The Northern Ireland Health and Social Services Library
Queen's University Medical Library.
Trinity College Dublin
 Biomedical Research Library
 St. James's Library
University College Cork. Medical Library
University College Dublin. Medical Library
University College Galway

I should like to express my appreciation for the help and advice given by Mr. J. Darby, Chief Officer of the Council for Postgraduate Medical and Dental Education. I should like to thank my fellow committee members for their co-operation:-

Miss M. Keaveney (D.D.H.)
Dr. Mary Burke (I.I.R.S.)
Ms. Mary Ainscough (R.C.P.I.)
Mrs. K. M. Bishop (R.C.S.I.)
Mr. B. O'Donnell (T.C.D.)
Miss B. Doran (U.C.C.)
Miss J. Ryan (U.C.G.)

Finally, a warm thank you to each of the following:-

Evelyn Moynihan and Madeleine Goor who helped in the preparation and correction of entries. Patricia Farrelly and Mary Marrinan who undertook the task of typing entries on to cards and Patricia McNally who typed the final manuscript.

Sile M. Nevin.
Editor.

HOW TO USE THE DIRECTORY

The following location abbreviations have been used in sections 1 and 2 of the directory:

DDH	Dublin Dental Hospital
IIRS	Institute for Industrial Research and Standards
QUB(M)	Northern Ireland Health and Social Services Library. Queen's University Medical Library
RCPI	Royal College of Physicians of Ireland
RCSI	Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland
TCD(BM)	Trinity College Dublin (Biomedical Research Library)
TCD (St. James)	St. James's Hospital
UCC	University College Cork. Medical Library
UCC (Sci)	University College Cork. Science Library
UCD (M)	University College Dublin. Medical Library
UCG	University College Galway.

A typical entry is illustrated as follows:—

(1) BRITISH JOURNAL of ORAL SURGERY (Edinburgh) (2)
(3) Volume	(4) Year	(5) Location
5—	1967—	DDH
1—	1963—	QUB(M)
1—	1963—	TCD(BM)
3—	1965—	UCC(Sci)
1	Title of journal
2	Place of publication
3	Commencing volume held by the holding library
4	Commencing year held by the holding library
5	Libraries where the journal may be obtained

SECTION 1:

Indexing and abstracting services

In order to keep abreast of what is being published in the journal literature it is essential to have guides to the contents of a broad range of journals. Indexing and abstracting services are the principal guides to the output of scientific and technical information. Indexing services (such as Index Medicus) report the titles of articles and provide sufficient bibliographical information to enable the article to be traced. Abstracting services (such as Excerpta Medica) contain abstracts or summaries of the contents of a publication or article. They are accompanied by adequate bibliographical information to enable the publication or article to be traced.

Section 1 contains a list of indexing and abstracting journals relevant to medicine, which are available in the co-operating medical libraries. Several important bibliographical and current awareness services are also listed.

SECTION 2:

This section comprises an alphabetical listing of journal titles available in each of the major libraries.

Journals are entered under the title as it is printed on the cover of a journal. Cross references to, and from institutional names are given where required.

The alphabetical arrangement of entries is based on title keywords. Keywords are printed in bold type. Definite and indefinite articles are disregarded in the arrangement.

Each entry contains the title of the journal, the volume and year held, together with the location of the journal. Where a change of title has occurred this is indicated. Cross references are numerous, in order to ensure maximum coverage.

The list names titles currently in print. It does not contain 'dead' (non-current) titles.

SECTION 3:

A questionnaire was circulated to each of the co-operating libraries. The questionnaire was designed to determine the services available to members of the medical and dental professions in the major medical libraries.

The entries are arranged alphabetically by the title of the institution. Each entry lists the services which are available, and any restrictions on the use of the library by external users.

Mrs. Nuala Galvin	}	all information requests
Mr. Barry Mahon

RESTRICTIONS ON USE:

The prime function of the Technical Information Division is to provide library and information services to industry. Some of the facilities available are relevant to the needs of the medical profession.

SUBJECT COVERAGE:

Mainly Scientific and Technical subjects.

SIZE OF HOLDINGS:

14,000 books, 700 current periodicals

CLASSIFICATION SCHEME IN USE:

UDC Scheme.

INFORMATION SERVICES AVAILABLE:

Retrospective and current-awareness search services are provided, based on MEDLARS (Medical Literature Analysis and Retrieval System). The MEDLARS data base, which is a computer-readable form of the printed journal Index Medicus, contains over 2½ million citations to the medical literature.

The MEDLINE (MEDLARS ONLINE) data base is stored on a computer in Harlow in Essex and can be accessed from a computer terminal in I.I.R.S. Searches are carried out by I.I.R.S. staff usually in the presence of a client. Search requests may also be made by post or telephone. The average search takes 20 mins and costs approximately £10. During this time a complex search strategy, consisting of keywords linked by the terms "AND", "OR", "AND NOT", is entered on the terminal, and a listing of references related to the user's interests is typed out.

The MEDLINE file extends back to 1975, but searches may be extended to 1966, in the following sections: 1966-1968, 1969-1971 and 1972-1974.

Many hospitals and university libraries act as agents for MEDLARS searches and will pass on requests to I.I.R.S. With the increasing availability of computer terminals, it will be possible for many users to access the MEDLARS system themselves using their own terminals. Details of the procedure are also available from I.I.R.S.

Northern Ireland Health and Social Services Library,
Queen's University Medical Library,
Institute of Clinical Science,
Grosvenor Road,
BELFAST, BT12 6BJ,
Northern Ireland.

Tele: (0232) 22043, 21487
Telex: 747578

Introduction:

The Library, until 1974, served only the Faculty of Medicine branch of the Queen's University Library. Now it also forms the central core of a library service for health and social services personnel in Northern Ireland. It is jointly financed by the University and the Department of Health and Social Services (Northern Ireland). It is guided by two Users' Committees reflecting the needs of the groups it serves. The resources and services of the Library are available to all personnel in Northern Ireland in any branch of health or Social Services.

In its provincial role, the N.I. Health and Social Services Library has general oversight of the libraries in five postgraduate medical centres (in the Waveney Hospital, Ballymena; Belfast City Hospital; Craigavon Hospital; Altnagelvin Hospital, Londonderry; Ulster Hospital, Dundonald, Belfast) and in eight schools of nursing. Libraries are also being developed in district hospitals throughout Northern Ireland.

All requests for information should be addressed to the Central Library in the first instance since the bulk of the research collections are concentrated there. The professional expertise of the staff based in the Central Library is freely available.

The Library,
Royal College of Physicians of Ireland,
6 Kildare Street,
DUBLIN 2.

Tele: 76 10 41

Introduction:

The bequest of Sir Patrick Dun's library to the Royal College of Physicians in 1713, marked the foundation of the present library. Over the years the library has been enriched by gifts and bequests, most notably the Robert Travers Library, the Fleetwood Churchill library of obstetrics, and the Kirkpatrick collection of books, pamphlets and manuscripts by Irish medical men.

The special distinction of the library lies in its historic books. These date from 1525 onwards. Few books have been added to the bookstock since 1960. The library takes 61 current periodicals, in many cases holding the longest series of some periodicals in Ireland. Facilities for post-graduate studies will be increased in the near future, and these will include some audio visual facilities.
